

"L" TRAINS HELD UP BY DRAWBRIDGE

For Three Hours None Could Cross Harlem, and Passengers Are Compelled to Hunt Other Means of Transport.

MIX-UP OVER TRANSFERS.

Scores Think the Slips Are Good on Trolley Cars, but Discover Their Error When They Board Them—One Irate Man Arrested.

Between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock this morning the Manhattan Elevated train did not cross the bridge over the Harlem River. The drawbridge was open to allow dredging in the river.

During these hours several hundred passengers were greatly inconvenienced by a mistake over the transfers at One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street and Third avenue. At this station, where the trains stopped, slips of paper were given to the passengers, which were said to be good on the elevated at either the One Hundred and Thirty-third or the One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street stations in the Bronx. As the passengers alighted from the trains a guard was standing by the stairs, who called out:

"This way to the trolley." Most of the passengers, mistaking the guard's call for the fact that the transfers were good on the trolley to the Bronx, went to the trolley cars and presented them. They were refused, and in a few minutes there was pandemonium among the hundreds of passengers. Several fights were narrowly averted and one passenger, who insisted that he was being robbed and that the conductor was a highway robber, was arrested. He was Bernard Nolan, of No. 1375 Washington avenue. The conductor was Jeremiah Regan, of No. 109 East One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street. When arraigned in the Morrisania Court today Magistrate Baker discharged Nolan.

In consequence of the misunderstanding of the transfers the passengers had to walk over the Lexington avenue bridge to the Bronx and go either to One Hundred and Thirty-third street and Willis avenue or One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street and Willis avenue.

SEEKS DEATH IN SANITARIUM RAID

"Dr." Frances McCulloch Takes Morphine After Her "Hospital" Is Entered and Her Women Nurses Arrested.

NOW WEAR RED CROSS BADGE

Last Time Attendants Were Taken to Station They Wore High-Heeled Pink Slippers, but Now Garb Is Sober Gray.

"Dr." Frances McCulloch was arraigned in the Jefferson Market Police Court today, charged with conducting a disorderly house, which she called a sanitarium, and with attempting to commit suicide. With her were arraigned nine women, captured in the same raid, and who were dressed as nurses, with little red crosses on their sleeves and little white caps on their heads. In previous raids these "nurses" wore pink slippers with high heels. In the raid two men who posed as "patients" were also captured, and they were also taken to court.

It developed that the raid was made by Capt. O'Connor, through evidence secured from a woman named Myrtle Knight, who lives in Sixth avenue. This woman had been living at the house, but left recently and some clothes belonging to her were held. She complained to Capt. O'Connor and told him the house was disorderly. She positively identified five of the women as inmates of the house and charged them with immoral acts. Those so charged included "Dr." McCulloch, the alleged proprietress, and a girl named Edith Wyatt, whom the Children's Society thought was under sixteen years of age.

"Dr." McCulloch was held in $1000 bail for examination to-morrow, the other women being held in $500 bail each for examination at the same time. The last time the "sanitarium" was raided the McCulloch woman said she would never again submit to arrest. She said she would die first, and sure enough, when she was bundled into a patrol wagon with her "nurses" she swallowed five grains of morphine. At the station a doctor revived her. Between the "sanitarium" and the building of the Reform Club, in Twenty-seventh street, a building has been torn down to make room for an addition to the "sanitarium." The workmen had cut a hole through the wall into the McCulloch woman's house, and it was through this that Capt. O'Connor, of the Tenderloin station, and his detectives entered, surprising the "nurses," "patients" and "doctor."

Mrs. McCulloch said she was going to kill herself then and there, and called to a nurse to bring the white bottle. When the bottle arrived she started to drink the contents and a detective knocked it out of her hands, saying: "Come on out of this and quit your joshing."

After they had all been booked at the station the matron heard groans from "Dr." McCulloch's cell and found her on the floor.

"I took five grains of morphine in the patrol wagon," she said. A doctor came from the New York Hospital, applied the stomach pump, said she had taken a large amount of poison, but left her in the cell, saying she would recover in time to go to court.

POLICE CHARGED WITH OPPRESSION.

Capt. Cooney and Detectives Arraigned as Result of a Raid Ordered by Commissioner Piper.

Police Captain John Cooney and his three detectives, John Kennedy, John Pendegast, and Mack Donnelly, were arraigned to-day before Magistrate Smith, in Long Island City, on the charge of oppression.

Charles S. Schmidt alleges that the police called the Cottage Athletic and Social Club as a pool-room. The club-room is over his saloon and was raided at the direction of Deputy Commissioner Piper.

CUBAN REBELS KILLED.

Leader Captured and Followers Shot in Sharp Fight.

HAVANA, July 29.—The efforts of a quartet of wild characters to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, province of Santiago, have ended in the capture of their leader and the killing of the other three men.

For weeks the four men had been attracting considerable attention in that vicinity, endeavoring to excite the people to treason and violence on the ground that the revolutionaries had not been and were not likely to be paid. Yesterday the party was overtaken by a detachment of the Rural Guard, and the leader was captured after some shooting on both sides. The other three men were pursued until late yesterday, when they were all killed.

GIRLS IN A PANIC AT NEWARK FIRES

One Blaze Quickly Follows Another and 600 Employees of Turnbull & Company Rush to Streets.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., July 29.—Two blazes kept the Newark Fire Department busy to-day.

The first one started in the basement of the five-story building of Turnbull & Co., at Nos. 17 and 19 Mechanic street, and threw 700 girls and men into a panic. The basement of the building is occupied by Hoe & Conover as a storage warehouse. It was stored with oakum. A general alarm was turned in.

The dense smoke filled the street, which is lined with manufacturing and wholesale houses. The employees fled from all the buildings on Mechanic street from Broad to Mulberry streets. Several firemen were carried from the building on account of the smoke, but the services of a doctor were unnecessary.

Before this fire was out an alarm was turned in from Park and Broad streets, two blocks away.

The second fire proved to be in the rooms of the New Jersey Historical Society, in East Park street, where are stored the records and other historical properties of the State in addition to oil paintings of all the Governors. It is the largest institution of its kind in the State and supported by an endowment founded by public subscription.

The fire started in a gallery from a leak in a gas pipe. An electric wire running across the pipe started the blaze. Several valuable records were damaged in addition to the damage to the building.

My Lungs.

"After spending many years in the East Indies in missionary work the Ceylon fever broke me down and I could not regain my strength—was coughing, night sweats, my chest was troubling me; took cold easily. These were the symptoms my brother had before he died with consumption. I knew I was going the same route he did. At once, went to the Doctor at 119 West 221 street, who cured me, after several months treatment, so that I have been well for five years. I believe he can cure lung trouble. If any one can, as he understands his profession perfectly, and fights disease hard to check it as soon as possible," says Mrs. Douglas, 845 Greene avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Free examination. Daily, 10-7; Sunday, 11-3. At Dr. Koch's Sanitarium, 119 West 221 street, corner Rhine's store. Call, write or telephone 1238-18.

Nicolo and his address as No. 68 Mulberry street, Manhattan, was arrested in the vestibule of the Brooklyn Club, at Clinton and Pigrepoint streets, Brooklyn, early to-day.

Nicolo was singing, praying and weeping by turns, and the noise he made disturbed the slumbers of the tourists and other distinguished sleepers who live at the club. The man was arrested and sent to the Kings County Hospital for examination as to his sanity.

PISTOL SHOTS IN DAY DAWN ROW.

Police Capture Two Men at Ninety-ninth Street and Broadway, but Both Are Discharged in Court.

Pistol shots at an early hour to-day attracted police to the corner of Broadway and Ninety-ninth street. They saw a number of well dressed men running in all directions. Two were pursued and captured. One said he was Oswald Simpson, of Ninety-ninth street and West End avenue. The other said he was Harry Cooper, of Yonkers, a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange. In the West Side Police Court this morning the men were charged with disorderly conduct. Simpson told the Court that he and his friends were attacked by some men whom they did not know. He said he did not know who fired the shots. Policemen Treason, who found the revolver, said he did not see either of the men with it, and Magistrate Pool then discharged the defendants.

Simpson Crawford Co.

Another Thousand Pairs of Men's Trousers, 3.50
Positively Made to Sell at $6, $8, and $10, for 3.50

A Heart to Heart Talk About a Very Important Offering.

CAN it be that some men are superstitious about all advertising; that they look upon it as mere matter to fill up newspaper space at extraordinary cost? We advertised a week ago to-night two thousand pairs of men's trousers at $3.50 and $5. We stated their worth as $6, $8 and $10—very modest from our point of view. A big window was filled with them; one man who saw them there said "they look too good to be good." He forgot that the entire building and business stood back of every pair.

Our surprise came from only selling a thousand pairs. A good many, to be sure, but not enough when the unusual value was taken into consideration. We're going to try again to-morrow.

If you can duplicate a single pair, made to measure, for less than our valuation of them, they are yours free.

Materials are the very choicest patterns of silk and worsteds, which sell at $2.50 to $3.50 the yard. Every yard has been shrunk by the cold-water process—a costly method that only high-class tailors adopt. The noted "Poole System" was followed in the cutting; there'll be no unsightly baggy knees after a few days' wear. The lining and trimmings and making are as good as it is possible to put into any Trousers, no matter what you pay.

Certainly, there is nothing more to be said.

You have our guarantee of their worth; you have our representation as to their goodness. If they do not find new owners in a hurry, it's not our fault.
